MARY PICKFORD in Capt. Kidd, Jr. As AUTCDAFT Bours

There are no limitations to the exquisite artistry of Mary Pickford, which thinks like budding rose leaves in some new form with each successive burketer she portrays. It has been a long time since Tuba has seen a new section picture. "Johanna Enlists" was the last one, so taking liberties the English language we say that people are hungry to see "Our that from the advance notices on "Capt Kild, Jr." they are all that he mightly pleased with her new production.

was fortunate for Anne Caldwell, the prolific author of popular uccesses like "Chin-Chin," "The Lady of the Supper," "When Claudia "The Top O' the World," etc., that she remembered the basic dea of a French musical comedy plot suggested to her by the veteran producer Henry W. Savage. For when the war came all the sources of French musical comedies were cut off. But from the idea of Manager Henry W. Savage, Miss Caldwell evolved "Pom-Pom," which has proven one of the greatest of modern stage entertainments. It has been given the unqualified approval of press and public and the critical New York heater goers flocked to it for a whole season. "Pom Pom" will be sen here with all its completeness at the Grand theater tonight
